

DOMINIQUE PERRAULT ON OLYMPIC VILLAGES

Posted on January 29, 2025 by Dima Fadel

Categories: A Village and Its Double, Dominique Perrault, expanding design practices, No Density, Talk

Tags: A Village and Its Double, Architecture, Barcelona, Dominique Perrault, Olympic and Paralympic Games, Olympic Village, Paris, Public Space, talk, Un Village et Son Double

Renowned French architect Dominique Perrault explores the evolution of Olympic villages, tracing their transformation from Barcelona to Paris. In this insightful discussion, he delves into the challenges, methodologies, and visionary approach shaping the Paris 2024 Olympic and Paralympic villages.

Expanding on key themes from his urban planning manual, Un Village et son Double (A Village and Its Double), Perrault examines the duality of these spaces—both as physical infrastructures and as catalysts for urban innovation. The book, available in both English and French on actar.com, offers a deeper analysis of how the Paris 2024 Olympic and Paralympic villages redefine cities and their legacies.

