When rethinking the nomadic dwelling, we took inspiration from the first settlers of the Río de la Plata. And the idea of a playful and itinerant community inevitably calls up associations with circus architecture. From the overlapping play of these seemingly incongruous images, the idea of a travelling tent arises.

It offers a flexible framework of free appropriation, which through its configuration and atmosphere proposes a fertile setting for gathering, sharing and interacting, while also functioning simply as a shelter that provides shade. The project was built for the 2020 edition of the Hello Wood Argentina festival together with a team of 11 students. Given its capacity for flexible assembly and disassembly, we will take steps to make sure it keeps moving.
