

POP UP PARK: A SUMMER OASIS IN AN UNDERUSED PUBLIC SPACE

Posted on September 10, 2018 by martabuges

Categories: Hello Wood, Low Density, Project, Territory and mobility, Urban Paradigms

Tags: Active Public Spaces, Budapest, Colour, Ephemeral, Hungary, Installation, Interaction, Park, Project, Timber, Urban Paradigms, Wood construction

urbanNext Lexicon

Pop Up Park: a Summer Oasis in an Underused Public Space
<https://urbannext.net/pop-up-park/>

Hello Wood revives its hugely successful POP-UP Park in co-operation with the Municipality of Budapest City to fill an underused space with a temporary summer haven.

ISSN : 2575-5374

urbanNext Lexicon

Pop Up Park: a Summer Oasis in an Underused Public Space
<https://urbannext.net/pop-up-park/>

With Hello Wood working alongside the Municipality of Budapest on one of Budapest's frequented yet empty spots beside City Hall this year, the studio has been able to work freely on its grand ideas for the POP-UP Park. The same wave motive returns from last year, the curved construction of the wooden structures providing ample places to sit or lie in the summer sun. This time the seating is much more colourful, too, combining with the addition of palm plants and olive trees to take an otherwise drab, cobblestone square and add a sense of the Mediterranean to it.

ISSN : 2575-5374

urbanNext Lexicon

Pop Up Park: a Summer Oasis in an Underused Public Space

<https://urbannext.net/pop-up-park/>

ISSN : 2575-5374

urbanNext Lexicon

Pop Up Park: a Summer Oasis in an Underused Public Space

<https://urbannext.net/pop-up-park/>

Smart additions of sail shades help add some much-needed respite from Hungary's intense summer sun where the few trees of the City Hall park cannot, while strings of quaint evening lighting keep the environment feeling cosy once the sun has set. The returning solar panels provided by Hungarian startup Platio will provide a place for nomadic workers to charge their laptops while enjoying the serene space or for tourists to refill their phones while taking a break exploring the beautiful Hungarian capital.

ISSN : 2575-5374

urbanNext Lexicon

Pop Up Park: a Summer Oasis in an Underused Public Space

<https://urbannext.net/pop-up-park/>

ISSN : 2575-5374

urbanNext Lexicon

Pop Up Park: a Summer Oasis in an Underused Public Space
<https://urbannext.net/pop-up-park/>

The addition of sporting equipment taps into Budapest's upcoming status as 2019's European Capital of Sport and the World Cup fever that has taken over the globe. The purpose here is to enhance the POP-UP Park so that it is much more than just a place to relax but a functional space for a community to grow. The major new addition is the street workout equipment courtesy of HardBodyHang, where amateur and professional athletes alike can tone their bodies and build their stamina for free. However ping pong and Teqball tables return from last year, the latter being a Hungarian invention that combines table tennis with football. And if physical athletics isn't your thing, then the new addition of chessboards at this year's summer-only park are also available for a few games of mental gymnastics.

ISSN : 2575-5374

urbanNext Lexicon

Pop Up Park: a Summer Oasis in an Underused Public Space

<https://urbannext.net/pop-up-park/>

ISSN : 2575-5374

urbanNext Lexicon

Pop Up Park: a Summer Oasis in an Underused Public Space

<https://urbannext.net/pop-up-park/>

ISSN : 2575-5374

