

THE ORDINARY STATE OF THE CRISIS

Posted on November 30, 2018 by content

Categories: Amateur Cities, Frank Keizer, New Generations, No Density, Politics and economics, Talk, Urban Paradigms, UrgentCity

Tags: Affordable Housing, Autonomy, Bigdata, Collaboration, Collective development, Concept, Contemporary society, Crisis, Future Commoning Cities, Government, Information, Language, Open data, Poetry, Politics, Privatisation, Public vs. Private, Social Production, Space, Strategies

urbanNext Lexicon

The Ordinary State of the Crisis
<https://urbannext.net/the-ordinary-state-of-the-crisis/>

In searching for a new vocabulary Frank Keizer calls for not divorcing terms from practice - from actual struggles. In doing so, he has identified terms that roughly relate to four terrains of struggle and spoke to us about the political relevance of culture and its language.

ISSN : 2575-5374

urbanNext Lexicon

The Ordinary State of the Crisis
<https://urbannext.net/the-ordinary-state-of-the-crisis/>

ISSN : 2575-5374