

LECTURE

The Rise of the Big Data

by Sarah Williams

THE RISE OF THE BIG DATA

Posted on October 25, 2022 by xavigonzalez

Categories: Contributors, Densities, expanding design practices, Formats, Imminent Urban Commons, Lecture, No Density, Politics and economics, Sarah Williams, Senseable Technologies, Technology and fabrication, Topics

Tags: Architect's role, Bigdata, China, Cities, Communicating, Communication, Data, Data as mediation, Data usage, Dataviz & simulation, Developing policies, Digital technologies, Discussing Imminent Urban Commons, Economics, Ghost city, Imminent Commons, Lecture, Political implications, Politics, Privacy, Research, Responsive Environment, Responsive technologies, Sensing, Sensors, Seoul, Seoul Biennale 2017, Social dynamics, Social Media, South Korea, Urban conditions, Urban policies, Urban research, Visualization

urbanNext Lexicon

The Rise of the Big Data
<https://urbannext.net/the-rise-of-the-big-data-2/>

ISSN : 2575-5374

urbanNext Lexicon

The Rise of the Big Data
<https://urbannext.net/the-rise-of-the-big-data-2/>

ISSN : 2575-5374